

WHAT CAN GERONTOLOGY ADD TO YOUR CRIMINAL JUSTICE DEGREE?

UNC Charlotte offers an Undergraduate Minor, a Concentration in Gerontology with the Interdisciplinary BA, and Graduate Certificate in Gerontology (with an Early Entry option)

WHAT IS GERONTOLOGY?

Gerontology is the study of longevity. Students of gerontology study not only physiological changes that occur with aging, but also social roles, normative expectations, attitudes and beliefs, stereotypes, and policy, health and economic issues which define the aging experience.

HOW DOES GERONTOLOGY COMPLEMENT MY CRIMINAL JUSTICE DEGREE?

It is becoming increasingly important for criminal justice and legal professionals to have an understanding of the psychological, social, and medical issues confronting an older population. Criminologists are facing many challenging issues pertaining to a rapidly increasing proportion of older adults. Areas receiving attention include an understanding of the nature and extent of crime committed by older adults, the manner in which police and other legal professionals interact with older adults, the victimization and mistreatment of older adults, and an ever-increasing array of legal issues pertaining to an aging society. An understanding of gerontology will be an asset to any student interested in a criminal justice, criminology, or legal career.
